

Internship on Campus - Immediate Opening with Sun Microsystems

http://www.sun.com/corp_emp/search.cgi?loc=50&req=561769&u=&p=

Welcome, Student Developers

Where can you find hot technologies, open-source communities, and job opportunities? Sun is looking for students who are ready to innovate and create the future.

Sun Microsystems is seeking innovative, technical, and passionate students to help promote its Open Source technologies in their schools. If this describes you, then you'll want to take advantage of this great opportunity to expand your technical, leadership, and global community building skills with a paid internship. Become a Sun Campus Ambassador and become proficient with extensive training on Sun's open technologies, such as OpenSolaris™, Java™, Netbeans™, and Sun Studio™.

Essential Functions

Sun is looking for graduate or senior-level students who possess a strong background in software development and programming to work on a part-time basis on their campus to:

- Lead the Sun open source developer community
- Run SUN technology demo sessions
- Promote Sun training events
- Champion Sun's platforms and development tools to professors and researchers
- Build developer mindshare at the grass-roots university level

Required Knowledge

Candidates should have a strong background in software development and programming, possess excellent communication skills, and be comfortable serving as a public speaker. In addition, a Sun Campus Ambassador must be self-motivated, highly organized, and able to work independently, with little or no supervision.

Preferred Knowledge and Experience

The ideal candidate should have familiarity (two-years experience) with NetBeans™ and Sun Studio development tools and the Solaris™ Operating System.

Minimum Level of Education

Candidates should be upper-division undergraduate students or graduate students in Computer Science or Information Systems.

Compensation

The starting U.S. pay is:

- Undergraduate Sophomore to Junior: $16.00 to $23.00 per hour
- Senior: $23.00 to $26.00 per hour
- Masters: $27.00 to $30.00 per hour
- PhD: $31.00 per hour

Hours are limited to five hours per week.
